

Terminology Services - Vocabulary Catalog List Detail Report

Term
Hydrochlorofluorocarbons
Definition: Compounds containing hydrogen, fluorine, chlorine, and carbon atoms. Although ozone depleting substances, they are less potent at destroying stratospheric ozone than chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs). They have been introduced as temporary replacements for CFCs and are also greenhouse gases. See ozone depleting substance.
Acronym: HCFCs